Irish Emerge
From Struggle
As Free State

England is Thrilled as Eleventh Hour Agreement Averts Gloom of Break

HAS STATUS OF DOMINION

Ulster is Given Choice of Joining Free State or Retaining Present Situation

Birmingham, Eng.—Ireland under
the peace settlement signed by representatives of the British and Sinn Fein government, will be known as the "Irish free state," Lord Chancellor or Birkenhead announced Tuesday.

The provisions of the agreement as outlined by Birkenhead are:

1. The new dominion is to be known as "the Irish free state."
2. It is to have the same status as Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa with one reservation.
3. In matters of finance the free state government will rule supreme.
4. The new government must pay her portion of the national war debt.
5. Sinn Fein must give reasonable guarantees to the South Ireland Unionist minority.

MAY OMIT ULSTER

If Ulster does not wish to join the free state she may retain her own status, the chancellor declared. In that case she will submit to the ruling of a boundary commission which will determine the boundary line between the free state and Ulster.

"If parliament does not sanction
these terms, Birkenhead predicted, the government would go before the people on the issue and submit it to a general election."

"This pact was signed in the same room in Downing street that witnessed the loss of the American colonies," Birkenhead said. "It was also in this room that the decision to enter the World war was made. Now it has witnessed a new phase of British history."

"If Ulster decides to stay out of this agreement, there will be a rectification of her frontier, necessary to prevent friction. She has been advised to join but if she prefers she can retain her present status."

TOIL INTO MORNING

An eleventh hour agreement between Britain and Sinn Fein was reached in the small hours of the morning in Downing street after hours of heated discussion.

The pact was rushed to Belfast for the sanction of Ulster. Her acceptance was considered most probable.

The British parliament is to be summoned to consider the pact which also will be reviewed by the Dail Eireann
in Dublin.

At a British cabinet meeting shortly after noon, the agreement was approved.

King George sent a message to the premier expressing his joy at the news. He wrote:

"I am overjoyed at the splendid news and I congratulate you heartily."

The news of the agreement sent a thrill throughout England. London had been prepared for the gloomy news of a breakdown and then at the eleventh hour, as the fragile negotiations hung by the thinnest thread over a chasm of despair, after months of fruitless work and worry over the terms, a ray of light struck out of the darkness and flashed on the door at No. 10 Downing street at 2.15
a. m.

It was learned the agreement was signed by Premier Lloyd George, Austen Chamberlain, Lord Birken-
head and Winston Churchill for Britain and Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins and George Barton for Sinn Fein.

BUDGET FOR NAVY IS ADOPTED BY FRENCH

By United Press Leased Wire
Paris.—The chamber of deputies Tuesday adopted the naval budget by a vote of 347 to 203 after a spirited debate.

Minister of Marine, Gabriel Guilthau, who insisted that France must maintain her national defense, said
the plan for 1922 provided for 56,000 men which is six thousand more than France had before the war.

SEARCH WRECKAGE FOR BODIES OF VICTIMS

By United Press Leased Wire
Philadelphia, Pa.—Search was continued Tuesday for several additional bodies thought to be in the debris of the wreck near Bryn Athyn, which so far has claimed the life of 25 lives and injured seriously more than a score.

The wreck occurred on the one track Newton division of the Philadelphia Reading railway when two passenger trains collided head-on on a sharp curve.

WANT U. S. TO ADD 750 MEN
TO DRY SQUAD

Ask $10,000,000 of Congress
for Prohibition Enforcement in Year 1923

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Seven hundred and fifty additional dry agents are to be added to the prohibition forces, if congress allows the estimate of $10-000,000 deemed necessary for probi-tion enforcement during the fiscal year of 1923.

These agents would be concentrated in mobile forces to go into several of the largest cities in the country for cleanup drives. From these cities the forces will be shifted to border points
and to sea coast cities for drives against widespread successful booze smuggling.

Because of the large amount of shifting of forces for great cleanup drives, Commissioner Haynes has asked traveling expenditures of one-fourth of the total.

HEAR DISPUTES ON RAIL WORK RULES

Modification of Agreements on 95 Roads Expected from Railroad Labor Board

Chicago.—Consideration of disputes over working rules between railway maintenance employees and the railroad companies, was started Tuesday by the United States railroad labor board.

Modification of the national agreement made between the United States railroad administration and the maintenance of way men will probably result.

Already this agreement has been suspended on nearly 40 roads, and replaced by an understanding entered into between each line and employees.
These understandings will not be affected by the board's ruling.

About 95 roads are involved in the dispute.

Agreement has been reached between the individual roads and the unions on all except six of the rules.
These rules relate to overtime and pay of men while traveling to and from work. Only these rules still in dispute were taken up by the board.

BOTH SIDES ARRANGE FOR NEW ARBUCKLE TRIAL

By United Press Leased Wire
San Francisco.—"We are getting ready to start," said District Attorney Brady said Tuesday.

"We certainly expect to go to trial
again," declared Gavin McNab, chief defense counsel. "The next trial will be shorter."

Tentative date for the new hearing is Jan. 6. Arbuckle meanwhile has gone to Los Angeles. Charges of violating the prohibition law, pending in the United States commissioner's court, have been continued until after the manslaughter case is finished.

Harding Would Fix Party Responsibility In Congress
President Seeks Authority To Help Fix Tariff Rate
Urges Encouragement For Cooperative Market Program

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—The full text of President Harding's message to congress
follows:

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Congress:

It is a very gratifying privilege to come to the congress with the republic at peace with all the nations of the world. More, it is equally gratifying to report that our country is not only free from every impending menace of war, but there are growing assurances of the permanency of the peace which we so deeply cherish.

For approximately ten years we have dwelt amid menaces of war or as participants in wars actualities and the inevitable aftermath, with its dis-ordered conditions, has added to the difficulties of government which adequately cannot be appraised except by those who are in immediate contact with the known responsibilities. Our tasks would be less difficult if we had only ourselves to consider, but so much of the world was involved, the disordered conditions are so well high universal, even among nations not engaged in actual warfare that no permanent readjustments can be effected without consideration of our inescapable relationship to world affairs in finance and trade.

NO WORLD RESTORATION
Indeed, we should be unworthy of our best tradition if we were unmindful of social, moral and political conditions which are not of direct concern to us, but which do not appeal to the human sympathies and the very becoming interest of a people blessed with our national good fortune.

It is not my purpose to bring to you a program of world restoration.
In the main such a program must be worked out by the nations more directly concerned. They must themselves turn to the restoration of the menacing conditions under which they are struggling, then we can help and we mean to help. We shall do so unselfishly because there is compensation in the consciousness of assisting, selflessly because the commerce and interchanges in trade, which marked our high tide of fortunate advancement, are possible only when the nations of all continents are restored to stable order and normal relationship.

SEEKS COOPERATION

I am very sure we shall have no conflict of opinion about constitutional duties or authority. During the anxieties of war, when necessity seemed compelling there were executive grants of authority and an extraordinary concentration of powers in the chief executive. The repeal of wartime legislation and the automatic expirations which attend the peace proclamations have put an end to these emergency excesses, but I have the wish to go further than that. I want to join you in restoring in the most cordial way, the spirit of ordination and cooperation and that mutuality of confidence and respect which is necessary in representative popular government.

It is worth while to make allusion
to the character of our government mindful as one must be that an address to you is no less a message to the people for whom you speak most intimately. Ours is a popular government through political parties. We divide along political lines and I would ever have it so. I do not mean that partisan preferences should under any public servant in the performance of a conscientious and patriotic official duty. We saw partisan lines utterly obliterated when war imperiled and our faith in the republic was riveted anew.

We ought not find these partisan lines obstructing the expeditious solution of the urgent problems of peace.
FUTURE OF BUDGET
In these urgent economies we shall be immensely assisted by the budget
system for which you made provision in the extraordinary session. The first budget is before you. Its preparation is a signal achievement and the perfection of the system, a thing impossible in the few months available for its initial trial, will mark its enactment as the beginning of the greatest reformation in governmental practice since the beginning of the republic.

There is pending a grant of authority to the administrative branch of the government for the funding and settlement of our vast foreign loans

growing out of our grant of war credits. With the hands of the executive branch held impotent to deal with these debts we are hindering urgent readjustments among our debtors and accomplishing nothing for ourselves. I think it is fair for the congress to assume that the executive branch of the government would adopt no major policy in dealing with these matters which would conflict with the purpose of congress in authorizing the loans, certainly not without asking congressional approval but there are minor problems incident to prudent loan transactions and the safeguarding of our interest which cannot even be attempted without this authorization. It will be helpful to ourselves and will improve conditions among our debtors if funding and the settlement of defaulted interest may be negotiated.

CANNOT OBEY ORDER

The previous congress, deeply concerned in behalf of our merchant marine, in 1920 enacted the existing shipping law, designed for the upbuilding of the American merchant marine. Among other things provided to encourage our shipping on the world's seas, the executive was directed to give notice of the termination of all existing commercial treaties in order to admit of reduced duties on imports carried in American bottoms.

FIX RESPONSIBILITY

Granting that we are fundamentally
a representative popular government with political parties the governing agencies, I believe the political party
in power should assume responsibility determined upon policies in the conference which supplements conventions
and elections, then strive for achievement through adherence to the accepted policy.

It would be ungracious to withhold acknowledgment of the really large volume and excellent quality of work accomplished by the extraordinary session of congress which so recently adjourned. I am not unmindful of the very difficult tasks with which you were called to deal and no one can ignore the insistent conditions which,
during recent years, have called for the continued and almost exclusive attention of your membership to public work. It would suggest insincerity if I expressed complete accord with every expression recorded in your roll call, but we are all agreed about the difficulties and the inevitable divergence of opinion in seeking the reduction, amelioration and readjust-

FALL URGES U. S.
TO RECLAIM LANDS FOR WAR VETERANS

Vast Wealth Lies Dormant, His Report Says—Must Cut Government Red Tape

Washington.—A strong policy toward hastening the reclamation of arid lands in the west was urged upon President Harding by Secretary of the Interior Fall in his annual report Tuesday.

Large numbers of World war veterans and others could be secured for speculation upon that which has been
done, but the progress of the conference continues to be entirely satisfactory.

The problems of the Far East are yielding to the spirit of peace that permeated the conference. While the concessions made to China are no
more than justice to what that great
republic requires, still it would be unfair to withhold from Japan, Great Britain and France full credit for relinquishing leased territory in China.
It must be remembered that in times
past it was customary for nations to
take what they could and to hold what
they took. "Never haul down the flag"
has been a very popular slogan with imperialists, and they have been
quick to impute cowardice and little-
ness to those who propose a restoration of territory taken.

DORMANT WEALTH
Startling figures as to the wealth lying dormant in lands owned by the government were disclosed. These will yield in royalties alone twelve billion dollars and the actual value of the oil and coal and other deposits is roughly estimated at $150,000,000,000.

Action by congress on reclamation proposals now pending would enable the government to put many unemployed to work. Fall reported that because of the pension and general land offices of the department was slovenly. Unless the pension bureau is given more help, thousands of Civil war veterans will die before their pension claims can be passed on by the government. Fall stated, Red tape in the general land office is holding up titles on homesteads four and five years often because of technical errors made by the government agents themselves, he said.

Serious economic conditions in Hawaii because of the adverse turn in the sugar business was reported.
Failure of congress to amend the immigration law so that coolie labor
could be imported during temporary labor shortages was held responsible in part. The failure of congress to include Hawaii under the benefits bestowed in the educational aid measures was regretted.

A MIDGET OF MIGHT

'Datu Paglima' Diki Diki, also called Datu Sibi Sibi, is 37, weighs 23 pounds and is 32 inches tall, but he's a great man. He's head Moro chief of the island of Ubian, near Jolo in the Southern Philippines. His word is law in his tribe.

Return Of Spoils Is New World Spirit

By William Jennings Bryan

Washington.—The recess taken by the conference lessens the news from that source and limits comments to speculation upon that which has been
done, but the progress of the conference continues to be entirely satisfactory.

The problems of the Far East are
yielding to the spirit of peace that
permeated the conference. While the
concessions made to China are no
more than justice to what that great
republic requires, still it would be un-
fair to withhold from Japan, Great Britain and France full credit for re-
linquishing leased territory in China.
It must be remembered that in times
past it was customary for nations to
take what they could and to hold what
they took. "Never haul down the flag"
has been a very popular slogan with
imperialists, and they have been
quick to impute cowardice and little-
ness to those who propose a restoration of territory taken.

But the world is entering upon a new era and is destined to experience
some new thrills. There were Americans who objected to hauling down
the American flag in Cuba, although our congress had been promised by resolution not to hold Cuba as a prize of war.

The United States, however, was true to its pledge and it was amply repaid. When the stars and stripes were hauled down from Morro castle
in order that the Cuban flag might be raised in its place the Cubans rushed forward and caught up the American flag saying: "It must not be allowed to touch the ground."

The time is coming when it will be the boast of nations that their flag is loved instead of feared. The Japanese, the British and the French will find that their flags will be more secure in the Chinese republic when they no longer float over territory occupied against the wishes of the people of China.

Quarrel Over I. O. U.'S Blamed In Dual Slaying

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—Grand jury investigation of murder charges against Thomas Walsh, labor leader, continued
Tuesday.

Authorities allege that Walsh shot and killed Adolph George, Jr., and George Gast, following a saloon row.
Thomas Kearney, another labor
chief, who was with Walsh at the saloon, may face charges of perjury.
His testimony at the coroner's inquest that a "wild eyed stranger" did

the shooting was contradicted by three witnesses, who positively identified Walsh as the slayer of the two men.

Unpaid I. O. U.'s, held by George, may have led to the killing, police believe. Miss Leone Lorraine, George's fiancée, reported considerable trouble between Walsh and George over the payment.

In his testimony Kearney freed Walsh of any connection with the murders.

U. S. FIGHTS SHY
OF "ALLIANCE" IN FAR EAST MATTERS

Will Sign Only an Agreement Which Includes All Nations
With Interests There

By David Lawrence
Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington.—The United States government will hardly agree to any three power or even four power pact
to substitute for the Anglo-Japanese alliance as suggested from Japanese sources. The same proposition has been made by British spokesmen.

The attitude of the American government has not changed since its negative response was made to the identical idea when Prime Minister Lloyd George made his first speech on the subject shortly before the armament conference was called.

If America enters into any political agreement covering Far Eastern questions it will be along broad lines
and will include every nation which has interests in that part of the globe. The American government has a vivid recollection of what happened in the informal parleys which followed the issuance of invitations to the Washington conference.

Originally only five powers besides China were invited but it was evident
before many days had passed that the people of Holland, Portugal and Belgium felt slighted and that their governments gave an impression of being discriminated against. The United States government promptly invited all three governments to send representatives.

NO EXCLUSIVE AFFAIR

But even if there were no question
of discrimination as against other powers involved, still the attitude of the Washington government would be one of opposition to any three-power pact. That kind of an arrangement is construed as nothing more nor less than an alliance. And the idea of an alliance or agreement with a special group of powers which might in any way be interpreted as an exclusive affair is unpalatable to this government.

Every expression from both the White House and the department of state since the informal suggestions began to be made about a three cornered alliance has met with the same response—the United States will enter into an agreement on the Far East only if it covers all the powers who have interests there.

INCLUDE CHINA

China has already made it clear that she wishes this conference to go on record as opposing the making of any treaty or convention relating to Far Eastern affairs which does not give China an opportunity to participate. If China is included, as many American officials think is inevitable,
there can be little objection raised to the addition of all other nations
which have interests in the Far East.

But the suggestion of a special alliance of Great Britain, Japan and the United States is far afield even as a graceful substitute for the Anglo-Japanese alliance. The senate probably wouldn't ratify it but the administration would be sure never to agree to it in the first place. A general council of nations signatories to a single pact covering the nine governments which have interests in the Far East is the American idea of a substitute for all special agreements or alliances.

CONGRESS ASKED TO GIVE SPEEDY RELIEF"Garage" Was Used By Pair
As Love Nest

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee.—The romance of a minister and a school teacher which is said to have blossomed for three years in the picturesque setting of a "garage," was blighted here with the arrest of the preacher on two statutory charges Monday.

Holbert Petersen, 49, married and the father of two children, said to be a former Methodist minister at Pitz-gerald, Ga., and Port Wayne, Ind., was arrested by police on complaint
of his wife. It is alleged he and Miss Gertrude Westbach, teaching here
under the name of Mrs. Gertrude Strong, had lived as man and wife in a garage on a vacant lot for the past three years.

Speeding up of plans to put Americans on a sound normal basis is America's best contribution to a worldwide restoration, the president said, with representatives of all the world powers here for the arms conference in the galleries of the house.

Harding served notice that the United States has no intention of trying to "save" other nations. They must save themselves, he said.

WANTS HIGH TARIFF

The president's policy was clearly outlined in discussing the need for a high tariff.

"Spillage of every drop of our humanity, commerce and finance
linked as they are in the present world condition, it is not to be argued that we need to destroy ourselves to be helpful to others," he said. "It were better to remain on a firm ground, strive for ample employment and high standards of wages at home and point the way to balanced budgets,
rigid economies and resolute, efficient work, as the remedies to cure disaster."

The arms conference was referred to only briefly by the president.

"It is easy to believe a world assembly centered in the capital city," he said. "A most gratifying world assembly, but it is not to be probable."

Outstanding in the president's recommendations for bringing this country back to normal conditions were:

INDUSTRIAL COURT

Creation of a virtual industrial court
to have judicial and quasi judicial power to deal with labor disputes affecting public interests.

Enactment of the permanent tariff bill, with adoption of the American valuation plan and a provision for fixing of variable duties by presidential order.

Revision of the shipping act to be based on recommendations shortly to be made in a special message.

Enactment of the allied debt refunding bill.

Encouragement of cooperative marketing programs to aid farmers.

A constitutional amendment to prohibit the issuance of non-taxable securities.

Speeding up of reclamation legislation to aid ex-soldiers and to provide more homes.

Some revision of the tax bill recently passed.

BAPS "BLOCS"

The president was believed to be taking a direct slap at the several
"blobs" such as the agricultural group, recently formed in congress, when early in his message he discussed our system of government.

"There is," he said, "vastly greater security, immensely more of the national viewpoint, more vigor and prompter accomplishment where our divisions are along party lines, in the broad and loftier sense, than to divide geographically, or according to personalities, or personal following."

There are reassuring signs of a business revival, Harding continued.

"Our unemployment, which gave us deep concern only a few weeks ago,
has grown encouragingly less," he said.

Relief for the farmer is essential,
President Harding said.

"In the main the remedy lies in distributing and marketing."

TURN TO FARM
Railroad rates, distribution of industry and development of good roads should be carried out with an eye to turning the tide of population back to the country, he suggested.

Dealing with labor problems, the president granted the right of both labor and capital to organize.

"It should be possible to set up judicial or quasi judicial tribunals for the consideration and determination of all disputes which menace the public welfare," he said.

"In an international society such as ours, the strike, the lockout and the boycott are as much out of place and as disastrous in their results as a war or armed revolution in the domain of politics."

The president started speaking at 12:30 after receiving a tremendous ovation and finished at 1:25.

PASTORS ARRIVING FOR ORDINATION

Pastors and representatives of Congregational churches in this locality are arriving here Tuesday afternoon to take part in the ordination into the ministry of C. Willard Cross, who also is to be installed formally as associate pastor of First Congregational church.

The public ordination service at 8 o'clock in the evening will be unique. In that Mr. Cross will hear the sermon of ordination preached by his own brother, the Rev. Edward Cross of Grinnell, Iowa.

ONE MAN FROM COUNTY AT STATE DAIRY SCHOOL

Outagamie county is represented in the dairy course at the University of Wisconsin by Theodore Laske of Seymour. Young men from 49 other counties also are enrolled in the course at the university.

The present enrollment of 100 students surpasses that of any previous year. Manitowish county heads the list in the number of students. It is closely followed by Lincoln, Langlade, Chippewa, Clark and Bayfield. Seven other states and three foreign countries are represented by students. Illinois has four, Indiana and Pennsylvania two each, Idaho, Iowa, Ohio, and Virginia, one each. Japan, Italy and Switzerland are the foreign countries represented.

Of unusual interest is the enrollment of one young lady, whose father owns a cheese factory, but being deaf could not attend the meetings, so sent his daughter to learn the latest methods in dairying. Wisconsin conducted the first dairy course held in America and since has served as a model for many other states.

DR. SANBORN ATTENDS RADIOLOGICAL MEETING

Risk Companies Seek Rooms In New Building

The new office building of the Aid Association for Luthorians is to be an insurance building in fact as well as in name. An insurance company that has never been locally represented has made application for a suite of offices and one of the leading insurance companies of the state has about determined to move its district office here from a neighboring city. Applications for both offices and stores are being received daily.

The terra cotta work of the main entrance is completed and justifies the prediction the building is to be especially handsome. The words "Insurance Building" appear over the entrance.

REALTY TRANSFERS

The following realty transfer was recorded at the county register of deed's office: Herman C. Zschachner to Vincent Gochler, two lots in Fourth ward of Appleton, consideration, private.

Council Meeting

A regular meeting of the common council will be held Wednesday evening in the city hall. With the tax levy out of the way, it is expected that only routine business will be transacted.

STORES WILL BE OPEN AT NIGHT

Stores will be kept open in Appleton each night until 9 o'clock during the week of Dec. 19 with the exception of Saturday when they will close at 6 o'clock. This was decided at a meeting of the retail trades committee of the chamber of commerce Tuesday morning. It was also decided that stores will remain closed on the Mondays following Christmas and New Years.

Postmaster Gustav Keller spoke to the committee asking its aid in distributing the mails over a longer period in the month, especially with advertising matter. The retail trades committee endorsed the cooperative advertising campaign brought about by the advertisers to get more business from the outlying territory.

Prof. W. L. Crow, professor of politics at Lawrence college spoke to the students at the chapel hour Tuesday morning on the real worth in people. He told several incidents where great men had been judged by their rough exteriors and cautioned the students to choose the Great King who was born in the lowly stable at Bethlehem rather than a god who lived in a glittering palace.

EXPECT BIG DEMAND FOR PUREBRED SIRE

Many buyers are expected at the first of two purebred bull sales to be conducted at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Robert Tiedt and son farm, Twelve Corners by Outagamie County Holstein Breeders association.

Fifteen picked animals will be offered. There has never been such a demand in Wisconsin's dairy history for good cattle by outside buyers as now. Buyers who pay top prices demand that grade cattle be bred from purebred sires. There are some portions of the county where cows have never been sold for breeding purposes but marketed merely for beef, and it is farmers in these sections that the association intends to reach. A second sale will be held in a week or two, perhaps at Seymour.

A GIFT— Yes, a gift— from your Heating Engineer

If you act now, then on Christmas Eve—

When you tip-toe in where the babies are asleep, you will find each room perfectly warmed by its own American Radiator.

You will touch the hot-water faucet; it will flow with water that really is hot.

You will slip into the living-room where ARCOLA stands, sending out its warmth to those radiators and to the kitchen tank besides.

Could there be any more perfect Christmas gift?

ARCOLA is a gift. It costs little at the outset (surprisingly little) and by the end of the third winter it has paid for itself in the fuel saved.

Who offers this gift? Your Heating Engineer whose store is near your home. By his skill and science he has made America the best warmed, most comfortable nation in the world.

See him this week and let him explain his gift—how quickly ARCOLA can be installed and how it will bring to your home the same perfect hot-water warmth which the larger heating plants of this Company give to mansions, cathedrals and even the White House itself.

The red and yellow card at the right is the sign of a Heating or Sanitary Engineer (you used to call him Steamfitter or Plumber) who can show you ARCOLA. Look for it in his window.

It will pay you to consult him twice a year as you do your Doctor or Dentist. His report on your heating and plumbing costs little. It may save much.

BEGIN TRIAL OF CONSPIRACY CASE AGAINST NEENAH

Start Taking Testimony in Homan Case After an Hour of Argument

After spending over an hour in the argument of motions before Judge E. W. Verner in circuit court Monday afternoon, in the case of A. C. Homan vs. the city of Neenah and A. K. Ellis, general manager of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co., in which the plaintiff alleges conspiracy to do away with his auto bus line between Appleton and Neenah, the attorneys started taking testimony late in the afternoon by calling H. S. Zemlock, city clerk.

Included among the defendants are E. C. Arnesen, mayor; H. S. Zemlock, city clerk; Charles Watts, chief of police; George H. Kelly, city attorney; and Aldermen E. A. Euehsal; H. C. Hansen; H. J. Laursen; and L. P. Nielsen, William Nielsen and Chris Tolversen, besides A. K. Ellis. The attorneys are J. Elmer Lehr of Milwaukee, formerly of Appleton, and Thomas H. Ryan for the defendant John Thompson of Oshkosh and George H. Kelly, city attorney for Neenah; and F. W. Grosen for A. K. Ellis.

FIRST CASE OF KIND
The city officials brought with them city records including ordinances, petitions and council proceedings and other data to be used in the trial and were instructed to bring with them Tuesday morning additional records that were overlooked on the first day of the trial. Because of the wide spread interest taken in the case and in view of the fact it is the first one of its kind to be brought into court, a large number of people from neighboring cities were in attendance at the trial which is expected will occupy the attention of the court for several days.

Attorney Lehr questioned City Clerk Zemlock concerning the streets of Neenah and particularly Wisconsin, and Commercial-st., on which the traction company operates its interurban cars and inquired if any other motor bus lines were being operated at the time the objectionable ordinances were passed to which he answered yes, but afterwards said he was not sure. He said heavy trucks were operated on those streets, but were not required to pay a license.

HOTELS HAVE BUSES
The witness said besides operating its interurban cars the traction company furnished Neenah with electricity for lighting and power purposes and with gas and had done so for several years. The amount of gas used paid into the city of Neenah was $2,408.29. He also said the hotels operated busses to and from the depots, but that there was no license provision for them. He was acquainted with Mr. Homan whom he had met in the office on several occasions and knew he was operating a motor bus line between Neenah and Appleton.

Fred Abendshien said he was engaged in selling automobiles and had been in that business for several years. He was not familiar with the taxi or jitney business, but operated a motor hearse. He was questioned as to the amount of motor truck traffic on Commercial st. and as to the effect solid and pneumatic tires had on the street. He was of the opinion the suction of a pneumatic tire was more severe on a pavement than the pounding of a solid tire.

An American flag was the prize won by Troop 8 of the local council of Boy Scouts of America, for selling the most tickets to the play staged last week by the Rotary club for the benefit of the Scouts. The Rev. Wilard Cross, associate pastor of the Congregational church, is headmaster of this troop.

Individual honors were awarded to Carl Engler of Troop 8, for selling the most tickets. An aluminum mess kit was given to him.

Scout Engler sold 76 tickets more than all others combined.

Easy For Thin People to Put on Flesh and Gain Weight

It's such an easy matter nowadays for thin, weak, scrawny people to put on good healthy, solid flesh and become plump and graceful that one often wonders why there are still so many people who seem to prefer to be "all skin and bone", ungainly and unpleasant to look upon.

Physicians have long known that whoever could discover a remedy that would cause the food that one puts into the stomach to turn into good, rich, flesh-making blood instead of going to waste, would also discover how to put healthy muscular flesh onto thin, undernourished people, and this has now been accomplished.

If you are thin, under developed, nervous, weak, or lack vigor and vitality, you can secure at any good pharmacy at moderate cost, a ten day's treatment of EVANS' TRIPLE PHOSPHATES, a new combination of flesh producing, muscle building, strength creating elements that is guaranteed to put good, solid, lasting flesh on your body and to make you strong, healthy and vigorous, or money back.

Physicians who have watched the results of the Evans' Triple Phosphates treatment are astonished at its rapid action—often in a month five or ten pounds of desirable weight is gained. Union Pharmacy, Dr. W. Evans, Mgr. has agreed to supply readers of this paper with Evans' Triple Phosphates and to guarantee it to do just what is claimed for it or money refunded. adv.

Many Ice Rinks Planned For Appleton's Skaters

Appleton skating enthusiasts will be able to enjoy their favorite outdoor winter sport this year. Tentative plans of the city fathers call for skating rinks on all available locations in the city. The city council probably will action at their meeting Wednesday evening.

The tentative plans for the 1922 skating season are similar to those of last year. Jones Park will be flooded and known as the central rink. Other rinks will be built adjacent to the various ward school buildings. A caretaker will be on duty at all times on the larger rinks to keep the ice in condition and to preserve law and order. The city council, however, has not done anything as yet in this matter.

"I would like to see every available location made into a municipal skating rink," said Mayor J. A. Hawes. "From past experience I have found that the public enjoys them and considers the rinks the best and safest places to skate. I also think that rinks in different sections of the city, well lighted for night skating, provide the best winter amusement in the city."

Whether rinks are to be built near the ward school buildings will depend upon the disposition of the school districts.

KELLER HAS PLAN TO END CONGESTION

Suggests Merchants Distribute Advertising Over Longer Period

Mail congestion in the Appleton postoffice could be relieved if merchants would get together on a plan of sending out their statements in indebtedness and advertising matter over a period of 30 days instead of on the first few days of each month, according to Postmaster Gustave Keller. Mail deliveries early in every month are delayed by the great quantities of advertising matter and mail matter which floods the postoffice, he said.

Mr. Keller suggested that advertising matter distributed over the month would bring better results because the reader would not be flooded with reading material at one time and consequently would devote more time to its study.

Less mail is received on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday than on other days of the week and the slack period of the month is from the twentieth to the twenty-seventh, Mr. Keller said.

Postmaster General Hays will take up the matter of equalizing distribution with publishers of magazines so were operated on those streets, but were not required to pay a license.

A WASTE OF TIME
If anything, the public will be surprised that "Patty Arbuckle was not acquitted. It did not of course expect him to be found guilty. Inability of the jury to agree was the only uncertain element in the case. It turns out that a lone woman hung the jury. She must have been of Spartan ancestry or a lineal descendant of the Puritans. Her attitude as against that of the other eleven probably measures pretty well the proportion of public sentiment. Virginia Rappe was "playing the game" which society pretty generally plays in one form or another, in essence the same. We do not mean this in the sense that society is immoral, but rather that it is immoral. Some let their passion for adventure and excitement carry them farther than others, but all are moved by a common zeal and linked by a common bond. If a succinct description is desired it is furnished by the "Gentleman with a Duster." His analysis of society is a perfect explanation of Virginia Rappe.

Miss Rappe lost her life while playing the game. It was merely a price of the mad quest for thrills. Society when it pretends to be shocked, is shocked only at her death. It is a little shocked by what caused it or what led up to it. It could not look itself in the face and be shocked, for that would be to see itself as it is, a part of the whole scheme of things in which the type Virginia Rappe moved. This it does not care to see. It would not be startled by the picture, just bored. It is a waste of time to prosecute Mr. Arbuckle. It is worse than that, for the only consequence is to feed a morbid public mind with prurient details and to stimulate its sensualism. He will never be convicted in a dozen trials. Society does not dare to convict him, and it would not if it dared. Society only convicts those who kill with murder in the heart, and not always then. Those who travel the pace set by modern conventions are immune. If somebody gets stepped on along the way, it is too bad but it is not criminal.

On with the jazz, let bootlegging be unconfined!

WILL BE PLENTY OF WORK FOR THEM

Not more than 100,000 men, at the maximum, would be thrown out of employment by the cessation of naval armament construction. Mr. Ethelbert Stewart, Commissioner of the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, finds that 9,900 men are actually employed by private contractors in the construction of naval vessels, and the number engaged in making equipment is 26,500, making a total of 36,400. To this is added the total of 63,000 men working in yards, docks, warehouses, and so on, bringing the grand total up to 99,000.

Most of the 36,400 are skilled workmen, and in Mr. Stewart's opinion, would be absorbed quickly by high class industry, while there would be demand for the others for construction work. There need be no fear whatever that there will not be employment for the 100,000 men who are identified with what we recognize as war work. The capital which is and has been applied to building machinery and implements of destruction will be devoted, with more capital, to construction and productive operations. Even if the 100,000 had to be pensioned, or work created for them, this would be public economy.

LENINE RULE IS COMPLETE FAILURE

Former Governor James P. Goodrich, of Indiana, who has completed a four-months investigation of the Russian situation for Secretary Hoover, is returning to Europe to make his report. Although he refuses to reveal his observations until he confers with Mr. Hoover, he is credited with the sweeping conclusion that there is no hope for Russia under the bolshevist rule. Notwithstanding the soviet administration has renounced communism, it continues to be visionary. It is like a committee of schoolboys experimenting with every impractical idea suggested, and not bothering about the consequence. Communists and soviets are all theorists, and they are all misanthropists, who pretend to be concerned for the welfare of the proletariat. What else could be expected of incompetent, selfish, despotic and cynical theorists but social chaos and ruinous government?

THE EXPERTS AND COMMON SENSE

Once more the experts are at work figuring out how Japan is going to get the best of the United States in the Washington conference. It is "reported" that Japan, while consenting to the five-five-three navy ratio, will ask the United States not to go ahead with fortifications of Guam and the Philippine Islands. They assert that back of this is a purpose on the part of Japan to take the Philippines away from us and then they proceed to show how in the event of war the United States would be at a disadvantage with these bases unfortified.

We believe it was Mr. Wells who said that foreign office officials "have such excellent, brilliant minds, but, alas, so highly specialized that at times one doubts whether they have, in the general sense of the word, any minds at all." The same observation applies to the naval experts. They are so highly specialized that often they are almost bereft of common sense.

In the first place the United States does not own and does not want the Philippine Islands. It claims no permanent title to them and is committed in the strongest way a nation can commit itself to withdraw from occupancy as soon as the natives are capable of self-government. What becomes of the Philippines after that can only be of incidental concern to the United States. We have had the Philippines in our tutelage for more than twenty years, and Japan has never given the slightest indication of a plot to take them away from us. If she has designs on the Philippines she certainly will wait until we get out of them before seeking to absorb them through colonization or methods which civilization might countenance. We need, therefore, have no fear of war with Japan over the Philippines.

It is true that in the case of offensive war against Japan the Philippines and Guam would be of great value to the United States as bases from which to operate its navy. Such a war, however, will never take place, while these bases are much too far from the United States to make the Japanese navy a menace in a defensive war, particularly when we consider the fact that she will have but three ships to every five of our own. The United States, could have only one thought in mind in insisting upon construction of elaborate fortifications in the Philippines and Guam, (and there would be no use in constructing anything but formidable fortifications), namely that it expected war and intended to pursue an international policy likely to produce war. Since we have in contemplation nothing of the kind it would seem to be a pure waste of public money to fortify these insular possessions, which in reality are not possessions at all but merely dots in the Pacific whose people we are trying to befriend and educate to self-government.

All the talk and fuss about precautions necessary to protect ourselves in the Pacific smacks of militarism. It can have no relation to peaceful policies. From a common sense standpoint there is no more reason for fortifying these islands than there would be for making fortresses among the South Sea Isles.

The Angora Treaty

Among present points of difference between Great Britain and France, the controversy over the treaty with the Angora Nationalists, negotiated by the latter promise to prove the most difficult of settlement. Under the terms of her treaty with the Angora Nationalists, France not only undertook to put an end to military operations against the Kemalists, but she undertook as a necessary corollary, to recognize the Angora Government as the de facto government of Turkey, disregarding altogether the claims of the sultan and his rump Parliament at Constantinople.

In her controversy with Great Britain over the recognition of Mustafa Kemal Paasha, France clearly holds a position of strategical advantage. The pact with the Angora Nationalists is a fait accompli, and it is unlikely that even the Allied Supreme Council will be able to make of this agreement a scrap of paper. So far as their policy in Asia Minor is concerned, there seems no immediate prospect of bridging the gap between France and Great Britain.—BOSTON TRANSCRIPT (Ind. Rep.)

THE ANGRY ONES

("When we were angry, and young and happy."
—Chesberton
They are the smashers of harsh tradition,
They are the breakers of idols vain.
The angry men with a raging mission,
With furious heart and with seething brain.
For their souls are thrilled with a splendid ire,
At Mammon throned and at Man cast down.
And their eyes are baleful with angry fire
And they wear their rage as a flaming crown!
They cannot view with a calm quiescent
The sight of ancient, established wrongs.
They fight with a wrath that is incandescent
And march to battle with angry songs!
They do not hate in a half-way fashion
The mercenaries of craft and greed,
But wield their weapons in righteous passion,
For they are a choleric, reckless breed.
Oh, it is a clean white rage which quickens
The struggle upward to better things.
They are joyously mad when the conflict thickens,
Their anger gives their spirit wings.
There is the wrath that at last shall leave
The soul of man till it breaks the cloud,
A glorious fury straight from heaven,
A thunderbolt from the hand of God!

The Wood-Forbes Report

The last sentence of the Wood-Forbes report on the Philippines reads: "We recommend that under no circumstances should the American government permit to be established in the Philippine Islands a situation which would leave the United States in a position of responsibility without authority."
The Jones Philippine government act and the eight years of Governor Harrison's administration tended to create exactly the situation against which General Wood and Mr. Forbes protest. Mr. Harrison did what he could to minimize his functions and talked longingly of the coming of the day on which he could step aboard a home-bound steamer, carrying the lowered American flag with them. He invited the Filipinos to take themselves. President Wilson and Secretary Baker concurred in this invitation.
General Wood and Mr. Forbes advise maintenance of the present general status in the islands until the inhabitants have had time to become accustomed to the use of the powers now entrusted to them. The two commissioners recommend a repeal of the provisions of the Jones law which diminished the Governor-General's proper authority. They think that administration—especially the administration of justice—ought to be lifted back to the pre-Harrison level.—NEW YORK TRIBUNE (Rep.)

Painless Taxation

William Randolph Hearst is defraying the expenses of a de luxe excursion of forty-nine members of Congress to study the Sales Tax in Canada. This tax is expected this year to add more than one hundred million dollars to the Dominion's revenues. It has been in operation in Canada since 1915. The Montreal Gazette says: "The revenue from the sales tax is large, the law appears to be generally complied with, and the necessities of the Federal Treasury make probable its continuance for an indefinite time."
Of course, Mr. Hearst's excursion is a bit of newspaper enterprise, but in this case it is directed to a useful end. In the unscrubbing of the present taxation omelet Congressmen need all the enlightenment possible, and if generous publishers will take them on trips to study first hand, the results ought to be beneficial. Already a nice little catch word has been coined and the sales tax is called "painless taxation." It is rather clever, but we all know how far we trust that other sign, "Painless Dentistry."
The sales tax has excellent advantages, but the quickest way to shake confidence in its merits would be to claim too much for it. It might be adopted because it is sound. If a revenue system is to be gauged by the slogan that may be attached to it, the "excess profits" tax would have proved perfect.—BALTIMORE AMERICAN (Rep.)

Democratic Postage Stamps

The new issues of postage stamps just put out by the German postal department do not show the Kaiser's crowned head but bear, instead, three decidedly democratic designs—a smith at the anvil, a miner with pick, chisel and hand car, and a farmer mowing and sheaving grain.
One might seek an indication of the government's attitude toward different branches of industry by the fact that the stamps which show the farmer are of highest denominations—160 pfennigs—and that the miner and the smith take second and third rank, respectively. Much more interesting, however, and more significant, is the fact that the crowned head is no longer the symbol of the German state.
Unfortunately the world lacks data on how completely a nation's postage stamps may reveal its state of mind.—ITHACA JOURNAL-NEWS (Ind.)

Killers At Large
By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington, D. C.—One evening about 8 o'clock three women at chatting in the parlor of a house in Springfield, Massachusetts, when a man entered the room by a rear window and, with out any preliminaries, demanded money. He wore a black slouch hat, a black handkerchief over the lower part of his face and a revolver in a holster at his side.
The terrified women screamed. He told them to be quiet or he would kill them. One of them screamed again, whereupon he shot her through the heart, killing her instantly. Then, after some more flourishes of his weapon, and without having taken any loot, he went away.
This astonishing crime led, after a long search, to the arrest of one Bertram G. Spencer, who confessed not only to this murder but also to a long series of mysterious burglaries which had terrified Springfield. They were most peculiar burglaries. They were committed usually early in the evening when detection would seem almost certain. In some cases nothing was taken and in most cases only articles of little or no value.
Spencer was tried, and after a long wrangle among specialists as to whether he was sane, he was condemned to death and electrocuted.
One man at least was not satisfied with this trial. He is L. Vernon Briggs, a well known specialist in mental disease. He was convinced, by what he had seen of Spencer and what he had heard at the trial, that Spencer was a defective. He further believed that Spencer had been a defective all of his life, that any competent specialist in mental disease could have diagnosed him as a man who was dangerous at large. Furthermore, he realized that this country must contain many thousands of men like Spencer who are dangerous to society, who are a menace to other persons and to themselves, and yet are allowed to run at large. In these opinions he has the support of many other psychiatrists.

LIFE STORY OF A KILLER
In order to prove his case, Dr. Briggs made an elaborate study of the life history of Spencer, and also of those of two other convicted murderers, of Colozzo, the man who murdered President McKinley, and of one Richeson. These three studies he has embodied in a book entitled "The Manner of Man That Kills." This book, and especially the part of it that deals with Spencer, is an absolutely convincing demonstration of the doctor's theory that most men who are defective men, that if studied by specialists when in school, they would nearly all be recognized as defectives and handled in such a way that they would not be a menace to society and to themselves, and that a large part of the enormous expense of our courts, police systems, and penal institutions, could thus be saved in addition to the great saving in life and property.

Dr. Briggs shows that Spencer was defective in intelligence from childhood, that almost all of his immediate relations on both sides showed some signs of mental defect, many of them having been downright insane. He further shows that Spencer was long known to many of his daily associates as a "queer" man, and that it was well recognized by them that he was subject to outbursts of temper almost without cause in which he could not control himself. On one of these outbursts he almost killed a boy with a hammer.
Yet this man Spencer, who was recognized by ordinary laymen as a dangerous man, and could have been identified by scientists at any time after his seventh year as a potential murderer, was not only allowed to run at large, but to marry and propagate the taint which had come down to him through the generations. Had he not been convicted of the murder which ended his career, he would almost certainly have been set free to murder again and to continue propagating his kind. And the United States of America is full of men like Spencer.
Having demonstrated what manner of man it is who kills, and how easy it generally is to identify the murderer before he murders, Dr. Briggs proceeds to give some information as to what our system of leaving defectives at large does to the taxpayer. He shows that in Massachusetts, $16,000,000 or forty per cent of the state budget in 1921 was spent for the care of "defective, dependent, and delinquent classes."

COURTS FOR MADMEN
In addition to this, it must be remembered that the criminal courts are engaged almost wholly in the business of trying defectives, putting them in jail and turning them loose again. The trial of Spencer cost the state of Massachusetts between $25,000 and $30,000, according to Dr. Briggs.
Remember, too, that our expensive police forces are engaged chiefly in keeping track of these defectives, capturing them only to be released again, playing an endless and futile game of hide and seek with madmen. The enormous burden which this taxpayer carries, and which is comparable only with the burden of international armament, is in a sense the least of the evils of our system of handling crime. The worst evil of it is that we are breeding defectives steadily, so that the problem grows all the time, and the blood of the nation is vitiated by defective strains everywhere, as the examination of the records of the courts shows.

What is needed to remedy this situation is well known to students of the situation, and has been carried out to a certain extent in some states and its practicability proved. Each state should have an institution which would not be known either as a hospital or as a prison, but as a school, to which defectives would be sent. They would there be studied by the most competent specialists, and every effort would be made to fit each of these defectives for a useful life in society. Some of them, of course, would never graduate from the school, and most of them presumably would not be allowed to propagate, but each of them would be given as large a show in the normal life of the world as he was capable of bearing.
To this institution would be sent, not only the defectives caught in the net of the courts, who are now either legally killed or else turned loose to do their worst, but also children identified as defectives in the schools. This, indeed is the most important part of the plan. For the defective or psychopathic child, when in hand, is saved and rescued from unfavorable environmental influences, may be converted into a normal citizen.

One thing which stands in the way of establishing such institutions is the lack of competent specialists—a lack which will doubtless gradually be met by education. But the great need is for a public opinion that realizes the need for such institutions.

Q. What is the difference between a mastodon and a mammoth? C. S. W.
A. The mammoth was an elephant now extinct—related to and nearly the same size as the existing Indian elephant. It, however, had a long, thick, bony coat and very long upturned tusks. The mastodon is any of the numerous species of extinct elephants, which differ from the mammoth chiefly in the molar teeth which have high conical cusps or parallel ridges with little or no cement in the interspaces. Some have small tusks in the lower jaw besides those in the upper jaw.

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

Briland and Curzon
"With the passage of several days since Premier Briland made his explanation of France's need for a large army," the WATERBURY (Conn.) REPUBLICAN (Rep.) finds it "interesting to note that a more and more critical attitude is being assumed toward his pronouncements." These reactions, says the SEATTLE TIMES (Ind.), "have been moderate but decisive. Italy is not sympathetic; England now indicates, through its foreign affairs secretary, that it is not disposed to look with friendly eyes on the premier's position. America's comment has been reserved, but a note of disappointment has crept into some of the semi-official comment." More important, however, as interpreted in American papers, is the widening of the breach between England and France as a result of what one writer calls "the public warning from the British secretary to France to watch her step."
In the speech in question Lord Curzon said that "peace will never be achieved if any one power tries to steal a march on another and conclude an arrangement on its own account," and then he declared that "the real strength and protection of France does not consist in the strength of her arms." "It does not consist even in the justice of her cause," but "in the fact that the conscience of the world and the combined physical forces of the world will not tolerate the reappearance in the heart of Europe of a great and dangerous power always rattling its sword in the scabbard as a menace to the peace of the world." This "remarkable speech," in the opinion of the WILKES-BARRE RECORD (Rep.) "may be regarded as Great Britain's answer to the speech of Premier Briland," for, as the DETROIT NEWS (Ind.) says, "it is not conceivable that the British foreign minister would make the kind of speech publicly" unless it comprised "the fixed policy of the British government."
Because this is the natural inference, and also because "the prime minister's sympathy" with the address can at least be assumed, the BOSTON TRANSCRIPT (Ind. Rep.) finds Curzon's remarks "the essence of disagreeableness." In effect, he declares for a policy by which Britain would make the world a more submarine to harass her or to make her afraid," while France is "to depend on the conscience of the world to defend her frontiers." Thus France, the NOBILE REGISTER (Dem.) adds, is taken to task "for following on land the policy which Great Britain has always followed and still follows on the sea." France is shell-shocked, remarks the NEW HAVEN JOURNAL-COURIER (Ind.), and "needs nursing, no scolding," and in the opinion of its neighbor, the HARFORD COURANT (Rep.) it makes "little difference in the end" whether Lord Curzon's attack was "malice or traditional British stupidity," he has in either case dealt a hard blow to suffering France," which the NEW YORK TIMES (Ind. Dem.) thinks was "not warranted" by the position Britain took before the conference. Certainly nothing in his statement of French policy, as the RICHMOND TIMES DISPATCH (Dem.) interprets it, justifies Curzon's "assumption that France deliberately elects to pursue an isolated and individual policy."
But just as many editors saw an element of "talking to Buncombe County" in Briland's address, so they find Curzon's remarks open to a suspicion of "demagogic politics" and possibly even of jealousy, for, the ITHACA JOURNAL-NEWS (Ind.) points out, "the French seem to have beaten the British foreign office in making peace with the Turkish Nationalists, and London doesn't like that," and because Curzon is "just now fighting a diplomatic battle with France over the near east spoils," the MIL-

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to cure it, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never saps, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every tight cough, loosen a dry, hoarse or air passage, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments. To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Tractor team of Menasha by a score of 25 to 16. The Menasha team is being coached by Fred Bushey. PROTEST CHANGE IN HIGHWAY ROUTE

Kaukauna Citizens Want State Highway Run Through Business Section

Kaukauna—Wisconsin state trunk highways 15 and 18, which follow the same street through Kaukauna, should be routed so they will carry a stranger into the heart of the city. This was agreed upon at a mass meeting of citizens, mostly north side residents Monday evening in the council rooms. The meeting had been called to determine the feeling of the people regarding the most logical location of the trunk lines and to arrange a protest to the highway commission which has in mind a plan whereby the highway will be rerouted over Draper and Taylor-st. The present route is over Black-st. and down Wisconsin-ave.

Black-st. is a new street and has no buildings on it. The highway commission agreed to have that street and one block on the avenue if the city would agree to pave the rest of the street leading up to it. A rising vote was taken and 23 men were found to be in favor of the route in its present location. Twelve others were in favor of having the highway on other streets and eleven of them favored Depot-st. as the place where the highway should turn into the heart of the city.

It is necessary that the trunk line be paved no matter where it runs, and a committee composed of Joseph Wittman, Frank Hilgenberg, E. Grebe and Oswald Burns was appointed by the chairman to find out the sentiment of the citizens in the various localities and make a report at a future meeting.

One man said tourists would take the shortest road out of the city regardless of the highway lines. The shortest route would be over Draper and Taylor-sts. or even over the Plank road. Other men believed the average traveler follows the signs and would take the trunk line through the business section of the city.

HERE'S REASON YOU ARE SO EASILY EXHAUSTED

After Constant Study Noted Authority on Health States Cause

It is positively alarming to see that many people nowadays who just haven't got strength and endurance enough to do hardly anything which requires exertion. Scientists have said the human race is fast degenerating into a lot of weaklings, and by disregarding the advice and suggestions of these men, we have all too unconsciously slipped into it not knowing why.

It naturally worries you when you feel that you are not as strong as you used to be, and you are not going to be satisfied until you find out the reason for it, and correct the fault.

If you feel uncomfortable after eating, or wake up in the mornings feeling just as tired as when you went to bed, you are a victim of this modern condition. If you are nervous, irritable, despondent, with apparently no definite aim in life, you just have to do something for yourself.

These are the surest signs that you are not feeding your nerves, muscles, tissues and brains with the nourishment they require to give you health, strength, endurance and will power.

MAY GET DAMAGES FROM RUM SELLERS

Unusual Verdict in Fond du Lac Brings New Woes for Prohibition Violations

Madison—Saloon keepers who sell intoxicating liquors now have a new difficulty to face in case they are apprehended, since a jury in Circuit court at Fond du Lac returned a judgment of $3,500 against J. G. Brunkhorst, saloon keeper in that city, in favor of Mrs. W. E. Smith, a young mother, who charged that liquor sold her husband by Brunkhorst was the cause of his ruin.

Mrs. Smithers brought suit herself and Judge Fowler held that she was entitled to both actual and punitive damages. It took the jury five hours to decide.

State Prohibition Commissioner W. Stanley Smith, speaking about the case, said, "In so far as I know this is the first time that a suit for damages of this kind has ever been allowed. It will add just one more danger to the business of bootlegging and running blind pigs."

Asked if he thought it necessary to have automobiles to catch bootleggers Commissioner Smith said, "They are not necessary, but they certainly are very handy and make the work much easier.

"At the present time our methods are very much like those used in war," said Commissioner Smith. "It is not difficult to learn where liquor is being sold, but the real problem is to get the evidence. To get that evidence it is necessary to take the offenders by surprise."

During the course of a raid in which evidence was secured against five saloons in Sheboygan a week ago, the telephone rang. One of the officers reached the telephone ahead of the proprietor.

"Revenue men in town, better clean up, 'Al,'" came a voice over the wire. "We're all cleaned up now," replied the prohibition officer.

WISCONSIN MEN WILL STUDY N. Y. DAIRY BODY

Madison — Commissioner Edward Nordman of the Wisconsin department of markets and Prof. Theodore MacKinnon of the University of Wisconsin left on Monday for New York, where they will make a study of the New York Dairymen's association.

It is their purpose to determine whether a similar organization of the dairy industry into a united cooperative enterprise is feasible under Wisconsin conditions. The department and university have previously stood out against a complete combination within the dairy industry and for organization rather along commodity lines.

Proposals have been made by the Wisconsin Union of the American Society of Equity that an organization similar to that in New York be developed within this state.

Freezing Weather Cannot Stop Buick Oil Circulation

Oil pumps in automobiles sometimes freeze up in very cold weather.

The Buick oil pump is so designed that, should the pump gears be held immovable through freezing, the shaft revolves within the gear. The heat thus generated thaws out the frozen parts, restoring gear action and oil flow to normal.

Only on a Buick will you find this feature.

ment of the burdens of taxation. Later on, when other problems are solved, I shall make some recommendations about renewed consideration of our tax program, but for the immediate time before us we must be content with the billion dollar reduction in the tax draft upon the people, and diminished irritations, banished uncertainty and improved methods of collection. By your sustenance of the rigid economies already inaugurated, with hopes for extension of these economies and added efficiencies in administration, I believe further reductions may be enacted and hindering burdens abolished.

During the life of the act no executive has complied with this order of the congress. When the present administration came into responsibility it began an early inquiry into the failure to execute the expressed purpose of the Jones act. Only one conclusion has been made possible. Frankly members of house and senate, eager as I am to join you in the making of an American merchant marine commensurate with our commerce the denouncement of our commercial treaties would involve us in a chaos of trade relationships and add indescribably to the confusion of the already disordered commercial world.

It is not my thought to lay the problem in detail before you today. It is desired only to say to you that the executive branch of the government, uninfluenced by the protest of any nation, for none has been made, is well convinced that your proposal, highly intended and heartily supported here, is so fraught with difficulties and so marked by tendencies to discourage trade expansion that I invite your tolerance of noncompliance for a few weeks until a plan may be presented which contemplates no greater draft upon the public treasury and which, though yet too crude to offer it today, gives much promise of extending our merchant marine, that it will argue its own proposal.

SPEED UP TARIFF

There is before you the completion of the enactment of what has been termed a "permanent" tariff law, the word "permanent" being used to distinguish it from the emergency act which the congress expedited early in the extraordinary session, and which is the law today. I cannot too strongly urge an early completion of this necessary legislation. It is needed to stabilize our industry at home; it is essential to make more definite our trade relations abroad. More, it is vital to the preservation of many of our own industries which contribute so notably to the very lifeblood of our nation.

Everything relating to trade, among ourselves and among nations has been expanded, excessive, inflated, abnormal and there is a madness in finance, which no American policy alone will cure. We are a creditor nation not by normal processes but made so by war. It is not an unworthy selfishness to seek to save tariff commission's fitness to recommend urgent changes by proclamation. I am sure about public opinion favoring the early determination of our tariff policy. There have been reassuring signs of a business revival from the deep slump which all the world has been experiencing. Our unemployment, which gave us deep concern only a few weeks ago, has grown encouragingly less, and new assurances and renewed confidence will attend the congressional declaration that American industry will be held secure.

Such has been said about the protective policy for ourselves making it impossible for our debtors to discharge their obligations to us. This is a contention not now pressing for decision. If we must choose between a people resuming the normal ways of employment and carrying the credit let us choose the latter.

RELIEF FOR FARMERS

Something more than tariff protection is required by American agriculture. To the farmer has come the earlier and the heavier burdens of readjustment. There is actual depression in our agricultural industry, while agricultural prosperity is absolutely essential to the general prosperity of the country.

Congress has sought very earnestly to provide relief. It has promptly given much temporary relief as has been possible, but the call is insistent for the permanent solution. It is inevitable that large crops lower the prices and short crops advance them. No legislation can cure that fundamental law. But there must be some economic solution for the excessive variations in returns for agricultural production.

In the main the remedy lies in distribution and marketing. Every proper encouragement should be given to the cooperative marketing program. No one challenges the right of the farmer to a larger share of what the consumers pay for his product. No one disputes that we cannot live without the farmer. He is justified in rebelling against the transportation cost. Given a fair return for his labor, he will have less occasion to appeal for financial aid and given assurance that his labors shall not be in vain, we reassure all the people of a production sufficient to meet our national requirement and guard against disaster.

The existing scheme of adjusting freight rates has been favoring the basing points, until industries are attracted to some centers and repelled from others.

A great volume of uneconomic and wasteful transportation has amended and the cost increased accordingly. The grain-milling and meat packing industry afford ample illustration and the attending concentration is readily apparent. Manifestly the conditions and terms of railway transportation ought not be permitted to increase this undesirable tendency.

Through the eradication of illiteracy and the diffusion of education mankind has reached a stage where we may fairly say that in the United States equality of opportunity has been attained, though all are not prepared to embrace it. There is indeed a too great divergence between the economic conditions of the most and the least favored classes in the community. But even that divergence has now come to the point where we bracket the very poor and the very rich together as the least fortunate classes. Our efforts may well be directed to improve the status of both.

RIGHT TO ORGANIZE

While this set of problems is commonly comprehended under the general phrase "capital and labor" it is really vastly broader. It is a question of social and economic organization.

The right of labor to organize is just as fundamental and necessary as is the right of capital to organize. The right of labor to negotiate, to deal with and solve its particular problems in an organized way, through its chosen agents, is just as essential as is the right of capital to organize, to maintain corporations, to limit the liabilities of stockholders. Indeed, we have come to recognize that the limited liability of the citizen as a member of a labor organization closely parallels the limitation of liability of the citizen as a stockholder in a corporation for profit. Along this line of reasoning we shall make the greatest progress towards solution of our problem of capital and labor.

LABOR TRIBUNALS

Just as it is not desirable that a corporation shall be allowed to impose undue exactions upon the public so it is not desirable that a labor organization shall be permitted to exact unfair terms of employment or subject the public to actual distress in order to enforce its terms. Finally, just as we are earnestly seeking for procedures whereby to adjust and settle political difficulties between nations without resort to war, so we may well look about for means to settle difficulties between organized capital and organized labor without resort to those forms of warfare which we recognize under the names of strikes, lockouts, boycotts and the like.

To accomplish this would involve the necessity to develop a thorough going code of practice in dealing with such affairs. It might be well to frankly set forth the superior interest of the community as a whole to either the labor group or the capital group. With rights, privileges, immunities and modes of organization thus carefully defined, it should be possible to set up judicial or quasi-judicial tribunals for the consideration and determination of all disputes which menace the public welfare.

After each war, until the last, the government has been enabled to give homes to its returned soldiers, and a large part of our settlement and development has attended this generous provision of land for the nation's defenders.

RECLAIM ARID LANDS

There is yet unreserved approximately 200,000,000 acres in the public domain, 20,000,000 acres of which are known to be susceptible of reclamation and made fit for homes by provision for irrigation.

The government has been assisting in the development of its remaining lands until the estimated increase in land values in the irrigated sections is fully $500,000,000 and the crops of 1920 alone on these lands are estimated to exceed $100,000,000. Under the law authorizing these expenditures for development, the advances are to be returned and it will be good business for the government to provide for the reclamation of the remaining 200,000,000 acres in addition to expediting the completion of projects long under way.

These resources are so vast and the development is affording so reliable a basis of estimate, that the interior department expresses the belief that ultimately the present law will add in royalties and payments to the treasuries of the federal government and the states containing these public lands a total of $12,000,000,000. This means, of course, an added wealth of many times that sum. These prospects seem to afford every justification of government advances in reclamation and irrigation.

PROVIDE MORE HOMES

Contemplating the inevitable and desirable increase of population there is another phase of reclamation full of worth of consideration. There are seventy-nine million acres of swamp and cut-over lands which may be reclaimed and made as valuable as any farm lands we possess. These acres are largely located in southern states and the greater proportion is owned by the states or by private citizens. Congress has a report of the survey of these lands for reclamation and the feasibility is established. I gladly commend federal aid, by way of advances, where state and private participation is assured.

Home making is one of the greatest benefits which government can bestow. Measures are pending embodying this sound policy to which we may well adhere. It is easily possible to make available permanent homes which will provide, in turn, for prosperous American families, without injurious competition with established activities or imposition on wealth already acquired.

While we are thinking of promoting the fortunes of our own people, I am sure there is room in the sympathetic thought of America for fellow human beings who are suffering and dying of starvation in Russia. A severe drought in the valley of the Volga has plunged 15,000,000 people into a grievous condition. Our voluntary agencies are exerting themselves to the utmost to save the lives of children in this area but it is now evident that unless relief is afforded the loss of life will extend to many millions. America can not be deaf to such a call as that.

We do not recognize the government of Russia nor tolerate its propaganda which emanates therefrom.

HOBBY MADE HIM BIG SHEEP RAISER

Lockport, Ill.—"Get a hobby and stick to it." Take that advice from Woodrow Wilson.

Not the former president. But from Little Woodrow of this place, son of William Wilson.

With a nickel capital he went into the sheep raising industry.

He paid the nickel on account for his first lamb.

Today at 9 he's the owner of one of the finest flocks of Shropshires in Illinois.

He entered his sheep in the International Live Stock Exposition in Chicago Nov. 26.

Five hundred other of America's brightest farm boys and girls competed for prizes.

Little Woodrow claims relationship with former President Wilson.

Family tradition of the Lockport Wilsons has it that far back President Wilson's great great grandfather, and their great grandfather were brothers in Ireland.

The Lockport Wilsons tell of a quarrel between the brothers over some property rights and of the eventual separation of the family tree later in America.

CHANGE LINE UP OF DAME'S TEAM FOR FIRST GAME

Kamerer and Boettcher Start in Guard Positions—Play Here Thursday

Final practice before the Appleton team of the Central Wisconsin Basketball League opens its season in Green Bay Wednesday night will be held here Tuesday evening. Manager George Dame has been obliged to make some last minute shifts in his lineup and it is probable that Kamerer and Boettcher will play the guard positions. Thus far Taylor has shown little inclination to get into the game and it is doubtful if he will play.

Stark and Kubitz will play the forward positions with Normington at center. This trio is about as capable as Dame could find anywhere. They are wonderful basketball floormen and keen shots at the basket.

Kamerer and Boettcher are a former high school player who made a splendid record.

The first game of the home season will be played in Armory G Thursday night with Fond du Lac in the role of the enemy. Fondy is coming here with one of its traditional strong teams and with its traditional rivalry with Appleton.

Among the stars on the Fond du Lac team are Gerhart and Watson who are well known to local basketball fans.

Two Rivers and Neenah will clash in the Neenah armory Wednesday night. Both teams have lost to the Oshkosh B'Gosh squad. Two Rivers is handicapped by the loss of "Doc" Delmore who recently was injured but they have retained most of their strength by signing "Skinny" O'Connor, formerly of the famous Milwaukee Bright Spots. "Red" Dunn another star, also has been signed by the Hamilton outfit.

Sport Views And News

The curtain has been pulled down on the 1921 football season and the football fans have been put back in the mood for another year. The green and gold made great progress in the neck of the woods and it is by far the most popular of all sports. Unless we miss our guess within the next year or two every school, city and village will be represented with an eleven on the gridiron.

Penn State had its hands full nailing out Washington in the first inter-sectional football game of the season. The two touchdowns margin doesn't speak very well for the Pennsquad when it is remembered that the California Bears took the "Generals" into camp to the tune of 1 to 3. Washington and Jefferson will play Andy Smith's super-team at the Rose Festival and we fear it is going to be another Waterloo for the invaders.

Coach Rocke of Notre Dame claims that no All American team will be complete without "Duke" Slater, Iowa's giant line man being named for a tackle position. The Hawkeyes have sort of been forced to take the background due to the publicity given Aubrey Devine but, nevertheless, he is about the greatest tackle in the collegiate football world of today.

Dame Rumor has it that Christy Mathewson has met a serious setback and his condition is very serious. "Big Six" has been waging a bitter life and death battle and for a long time it seemed as if he was going to win out but the latest reports from Saratoga Lake carry the news that his chances for recovery from the dreaded T. B. are not of the rosy hue variety these days.

BOXING CLASSES ARE ORGANIZED IN Y. M. C. A.

Boxing classes were organized Monday evening in the Y. M. C. A. Don McGrew, Racine, a Lawrence student, has been appointed instructor. The course of instruction will cover a period of three months and 25 lessons will be given. At the end of the course a tournament will be held to pick the team that will represent the Y. M. C. A. Mr. McGrew has had experience as a boxer in the navy. He was champion for his weight on the ship on which he was stationed during the war.

He Has A Regular Job!

"BARNEY" BURCH
OWNER OF THE OMAHA CLUB

BARNEY'S A WHOLE BALL CLUB IN HIMSELF

Usually when a team's regular catcher is out of the game, the club slumps, but Omaha kept on winning with the manager, pitcher, first baseman back of the bat.

Several times during the season one of his outfielders was unable to play, and once again Burch was "Jerry on the job." He played 11 games in the outfield.

In 19 trips to the plate as a pinch hitter, he hit safely 16 times. His batting average for the season was .311. His pitching percentage .755.

Now that the season is over, Burch is remodeling his ball park and taking an active part in it. Every day since the close of the season he has worked as one of the carpenters on the job.

His slogan is a pennant for Omaha in 1922 and a big league park in 1923.

Today's Sport Angle

Is it possible for one man to make or break a ball club? The idea that one man can make a ball club is often scouted. However, there is no denying that the loss of one man can very often break a ball club. I have in mind the case of Joe Gedeon and the St. Louis Browns of last summer.

Gedeon was one of those players who did his work without much show. Therefore he never received the praise really due him. Praise that would have been showered on a flashier infielder. I had always rated Joe Gedeon second to Eddie Collins when considering valuable second-sackers.

Had Joe Gedeon been with the St. Louis club last summer, the Browns might have won the pennant. In the early spring at least 15 games were lost out of the first 50 because of the lack of a finished, experienced second baseman.

Failure to play properly for certain hitters allowed many ground-balls to go safe that would have been easy outs. Inability to complete double plays often enabled a team to put over the winning runs after the side should have been retired. Likewise, the master mind of Gedeon, who was constantly directing the play of the team, was sadly missed.

Yes, they laugh at you, when you say that a certain player is just about the whole team. It is usually argued that a club can get along without this or that player no matter how valuable he may be. That is true, but while the club is getting squared away the loss of that certain athlete plays havoc with the team's chances. No better example than the case of Joe Gedeon could be offered.—B. E.

IDEALS LOSE TO NEENAH SPECIALS BY BIG SCORE

Appleton Ideals were outclassed by the Hub Specials of Neenah Monday evening in a game at Neenah, losing 44 to 12. The Specials were in the lead all the way.

It was first time the Appleton team had played together, and its teamwork was ragged. Stark and Normington played forwards; Flotow was in center, with Kubitz and Boettcher at guards.

New Orleans, La.—Young Eddie Fitzsimmons of Oklahoma, found Frankie Carbone, the Jersey cave-man, tame Monday night and was given the referee's decision at the close of their 15 round bout.

MUST WIN TO GET PURSE IN TITLE GRAPPLING MATCH

Weaver and Hill Agree That Winner Shall Get Entire Purse

The grappler who loses Wednesday night's wrestling match is out of luck. Not only will he be twisted out of his claim to the state championship but he will have labored for nothing. The wrestlers have agreed to the terms that the winner will get the entire purse and the purse is based on the size of the house.

Buck Weaver, who is one of the principals in the windup, agreed to wrestle Hill on any terms which the latter would name. Hill immediately informed Promoter Elmer Johnston that "winner take all" was the way he would like to go on the mat and Weaver promptly was informed of Hill's decision. The Necedah matman, however, didn't come back with an answer right away and it was feared the match was off. A few days ago, however, he agreed to the terms in a letter which was filled with sarcasm about Hill's ability and the men he has met. That is another reason why the loser of the match will be out of luck. He surely is going to get a nice little twisting and bumping.

It isn't going to be a walkaway for either man. Weaver has wrestled some of the best grapplers in the country and has more than held his own with them. He has a splendid reputation on the Pacific coast where he has been doing most of his work. Hill also is no slouch on the mat, as any number of Appleton fans can testify. He too has given most of the up and coming grapplers a chase for their coin. Weaver will be a hard nut to crack but Hill says he is in fine shape to do the trick.

Minor League Magnates Believe Disciplinary Measures Good for Game

Buffalo, N. Y.—Baseball magnates here for the annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues Tuesday generally expressed the opinion that the best discipline of the players, such as handing out to Babe Ruth, Meusel and Piercy by Commissioner Landis. They believed the severity of the penalty imposed would have the effect of putting a stop to barnstorming by contestants in future world's series games.

The fine and suspension of the players has given an added interest to the appearance of Commissioner Landis here Wednesday evening when he will be the honor guest and chief speaker at a dinner given by the local committee to visiting baseball men.

Deals for players, President Michael H. Sexton's campaign for greater economy in the management of small league clubs, and the possibility of reinstating the draft system were questions up for consideration Tuesday.

SEASON PRODUCED GREATEST BACKS

No position on a football team is more important than quarterback. The season of 1921 has produced more great quarterbacks than any other year that can be recalled. At least a dozen high class quarterbacks of Iowa is generally admitted as the greatest quarterback the west has ever produced. Coach Williams of Minnesota says he is greater than even Walter Eckersall or Johnny McGovern.

Devine can do all things well. He is a great field general. He is a wonder in an open field. A great kicker, and receives forward passes as well as he throws them. He was the big cog in the championship Iowa team coached by Howard Jones. Killinger of Penn State is one of Milwaukee—Frankie Schmalzer and Benny Vogel, local bantamweights, will meet in the windup of the Milwaukee Boxing club show here December 9.

Memphis, Tenn.—Carl Tremaine, Cleveland, bantam, knocked out K. O. Brown of New Orleans in the fourth round of a scheduled 8 round bout here Monday night.

He is a star at the running game and a fine passer. His kicking game is not so strong.

A few of the other great quarterbacks of 1921 are O'Hearn of Yale, who is sure to be a star next year; Lourie of Princeton, who was handicapped most of the year because of injuries; Holleran of Pittsburgh, another great quarter whose work has suffered because of injuries; Romney of Chicago, Brennen of Lafayette, Budl of Harvard, Workman of Ohio State and others.

It is a toss-up between three of them as to who is the real leader. Devine of Iowa, Killinger of Penn State or McMillin of Centre.

WANTED MEN — AT ONCE

To Become Automotive Electrical Experts

The Greatest Opportunity to Make Big Money And Get Into Business That Men of All Ages Ever Faced

WHILE many are unable to find work of the sort anyone can do, the automotive industries are short of help in the trained electrical field. The pity of it is, the needed knowledge could be learned in a season!

For driving a tractor $25 is a fair week's pay. For knowing how that tractor is ignited, fired and wired, a man is often paid $25 a day!

What truck driver, or even mechanic, draws $500 a month? Yet men who lay-out and inspect ignition and lighting systems make that and more.

Now is the Time

In auto factories; branches, service shops; where tractors are made; in airplane work; with motorcycle and speed boat makers; around lighting-plant shops; you can practically pick your job, or own your own repair shop. And there is an easy way to get experience you need.

Why, the headlight laws alone — different in every state — means big pay for those who learn the mechanical requirements and how to conform auto lights to the regulations. Start now.

How Anyone Can Qualify

You can master this profitable line in three months! Not by digging it out of books; not by a long distance correspondence course, but where the work is being done. In your overalls. Doing it yourself. At the shops where 800 trained experts were turned out last year.

You will then know what a "trouble-shooter," inspector, foreman must know. The mysteries of the "electric line" will be an open book.

While the demand is so strong, a famous residents school of electricity will make a special low tuition rate, and start new classes every few days; put you to work on the same things that ninety days later you'll be working at for money.

Act Immediately!

Send now for free book of facts and photographs. Explains all. Whether you are only 18, or past fifty, investigate this opportunity.

If you are a self-starter, do not wait, but come to Milwaukee; we'll find you a room and have you in the thick of the work the day you arrive.

LETTERS TO LOVERS

Husband Snatchers

By Winona Wilcox

What's to be done when a bride discovers that her husband is all tangled up in a web of irregular romance? asks a girl who has been married scarcely two years.

The question was suggested by one of the intruders:

"I must make a frank confession. I am pretty, not quite 25, the private secretary of a married man ten years my senior.

"He makes love to me. He wouldn't perhaps, if I didn't let him.

"He has children. His wife is splendid, his superior in education and charm. Nevertheless, the man declares that he loves me.

"He must love her, too. I can't understand how he can love his wife and me at the same time."

He does not love both women in any way which a woman could possibly understand.

And probably he would not make love to the girl if she did not let him. That sentence of her confession reveals a good deal.

How a wife looks at the situation and the girl is ably stated in another letter:

"It's a poor sort of a woman who cannot find a husband of her own but must steal another woman's husband.

A woman younger than I, by flattery and coquetry, so distracted my husband that he decided he wanted his freedom. And we have four children of high school age!

"The husband snatcher hated to work. She coveted my place in a fairly luxurious home. Well, she didn't get it, even with my husband's connivance. I reasoned that as I had borne the man's children I had rights no girl should be permitted to usurp.

"And so I didn't get sick when my husband proposed divorce. I simply informed him that he couldn't have his own way.

"Now the fact is that I had always adored him, but that is not why I stayed with him. Nor did I stay on account of the children, for they had private fortunes inherited from their grandfather.

"I stayed because I am a fighter. I decided to show one girl that she couldn't tear down a home a wife had helped to build, just because she happened to possess youth and beauty.

"The affair is now ancient history. The odd part is that after my decision, my husband immediately recovered from his infatuation. He discharged the girl. He quieted down, returned to his books and our friends of his own age.

"He is the best of husbands at last. But at last 'for him is 'too late' for me. In my estimation, he isn't so very valuable as a man. I am always seeing him on that girl's plane, and not on my own."

Perhaps neither the husband snatcher nor the wife understood the man between. Perhaps he never understood himself!

One bit of wisdom swirls to the top of this whirlpool of human emotions as a warning to a girl who admits that the man wouldn't make love to her if she didn't let him:

The husband you snatch today, some other girl will snatch from you tomorrow.

Watch Your Salad

When the salad is served as a separate course and not with the main dinner dish crackers or something of the sort should accompany the salad.

A very simple salad may have a rather more elaborate accompaniment than a heavy fruit or fish salad.

If cheese is a distinctive part of the salad do not repeat the flavor in the accompaniment.

The easiest salad accompaniment to prepare uses crackers as the foundation.

CHEESE STRAWS

One and one-half cups bread crumbs, 6 tablespoons milk, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup grated cheese, dash mustard, flour to stiffen, paprika.

Soak bread crumbs in milk for half an hour. Add salt and mustard and cheese and mix thoroughly. Add enough flour to make of the consistency to roll. Turn on a floured molding board, roll to the thickness of 1/4 inch. Cut in strips four inches long and half an inch wide. Bake in a moderate oven for fifteen minutes.

Cheese cups are more work to make but so good.

Cut bread in rounds two inches thick. Cut out a small circle 1/2 inch deep. Dip each cup in melted butter. Fill cavity with grated cheese, and toast in a very hot oven till delicately browned. Serve at once and eat with a fork.

CHEESE SQUARES

One cup soft cheese, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons soft bread crumbs, 1/4 teaspoon mustard, 1/2 teaspoon vinegar, 1 tablespoon minced sweet pepper, few grains sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, paprika, squares bread.

Cut bread not more than 3/4 of an inch thick. Cut off crusts and cut bread in two-inch squares. Toast quickly. Mix cheese, butter, bread sugar and salt to a smooth paste. Spread on the toasted squares, dust with paprika and put in a hot oven until the cheese is melted. Serve at once.

CHEESE BALLS

Whites 2 eggs, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, grated cheese.

Beat whites till stiff and dry. Beat grated cheese to make the mixture the right consistency to form into marbles. Drop in deep hot fat and fry to a golden brown. Drain on heavy brown paper and heat in the oven to serve.

CINNAMON TOAST

Four tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 3 tablespoons light brown sugar, toast.

Cream butter. Rub sugar through a sieve or roll on molding board to free from lumps. Mix sugar and cinnamon and beat into butter. Toast bread lightly. Spread with mixture and put back under flame or in a very hot oven to melt. Serve at once.

Adventures of the Twins

Olive Roberts Barton

A Favor

Nick had an idea. He had been thinking hard all the time that Mr. Flatfish Flounder was talking about losing his fine dinner in the fish net. He spoke up now. "Very well, Mr. Flounder, you may have your dinner, but you'll have to get it for yourself. Cap'n Pennywinkle only wants the net."

Therupon Nick suddenly released his hold upon the fish net and all the shrimps and prawns and crabs, and the rest of them, streamed out into the sea. And you may be sure that it didn't take them a day and a half to get out of that. Off they skidded in all directions, calling their thanks to the Twins over their shoulders, while old greedy Mr. Flatfish swam round lashing his tail in a fury.

"Here, now," he cried, "just see what you've done! You've ruined my luncheon completely. Didn't you know that the net you are taking away with you is my dining room? I know how to get into it and how to get out and three times a day I go and feast on Mr. Fisherman's catch. What shall I do now?"

"You'll have to hunt your dinner," said Nancy calmly. "And I think you ought to thank us, for sometime sooner or later, Mr. Fisherman would have hauled you in when you weren't looking, and that would have been the end of you."

"Oh," said Mr. Flounder. "I'm not good to eat. Mr. Fisherman doesn't want me, you may be sure."

"Perhaps they'd put you in a glass case for folks to stare at," suggested Nick.

But Mr. Flounder swam away without replying, wiggling his whip of a tail in contempt.

The Twins took the net to Cap'n Pennywinkle, glad that they had been able to do the shrimps and prawns a favor.

PEOPLE FLOCK TO ONE DOLLAR CLINIC

Removing Charity Idea Causes Thousands to Seek Return to Health

New York—Got weak eyes? Or sore throat? Or a cold? Or heart disease? You can get treatment for these or any other malady at the Cornell University Medical College "pay clinic" here for $1.

The clinic's been started to provide medical care for people of moderate means. The extremely poor can go to free clinics. But pride often bars them to others.

I found the people flocking through Cornell's open doors to health proved the need of the pay clinic.

"My eye," said a young woman in a trim blue tailored suit. "Oh, yes," replied the hostess in the receiving room, "just register there and someone will take you to the eye specialist."

"My little girl," a neatly dressed young mother with a prettily dressed child—obviously wife and daughter of some modestly salaried clerk—approached. They were sent to the register and then escorted to the children's specialists.

A young man with a bandaged face was quickly sent to the department middle class is caught between the two extremes—the pauper for whom free clinics are open—and the rich who can pay for specialists.

BANGS DEFENDS LITERARY LIGHTS AGAINST ATTACK

Noted Humorist Gives Intimate View of World Famous Authors

An intimate insight into the character of some of the world's literary lights was given in an entertaining fashion by John Kendrick Bangs, noted lecturer, author and humorist, before an attentive audience in Lawrence Memorial chapel Monday evening. Mr. Bangs announced his subject as "Some Salubrities That I Have Known." He spoke here under auspices of Appleton Community Lecture and Artist series.

Mr. Bangs told in an interesting and laughable way how he had been forced to choose that subject for a lecture in a western city. When he reached the town he found he was advertised to deliver an address on that subject and was persuaded to do as he was asked, and he decided to do so by a desire to leave the town on a train instead of on a fence rail. The printer had mixed "salubrities" with celebrities and wished a new subject on him.

Webster defines salubrity as the quality of being wholesome and

Christmas Clubs Save $80,000 For Appleton People In One Year

Banks Declare Savings Clubs Promote Thrift and Create a Desire to Save—Clubs Have More Than 2,000 Members.

More than $80,000 in checks went out to more than 2,000 people in Appleton and vicinity from the Appleton banks early this week carrying with them the biggest lesson in thrift which any like amount has ever taught here. It was the money paid out from the Christmas savings clubs which all the banks conduct for the convenience of their patrons or rather patronesses since most of the members are housewives.

Christmas savings clubs were started in Appleton about eight years ago when the Outagamie County bank launched the first plan of beginning on one Christmas to save for the next year. The bank offered club plans whereby people could start the club with 1, 2 or 5 cents or more on the first week, increasing the same amount each week. The plan proved very popular and gradually all the banks have adopted it. It is interesting to note that the Christmas club plan is the only one of its kind which has ever been considered successful and the reason is partly the sentimental regard with which people plan for the holiday season. Clubs which appealed to people for a vacation fund, insurance fund and just plain homely thrift have never thrived for long, but the Christmas clubs are growing stronger every year.

PROMOTES REAL THRIFT
"Money from the Christmas savings clubs is not all spent for Christmas presents," said William J. C. Konrad, Jr., cashier of the Citizens National bank. "People save through these clubs for taxes, insurance and interest. You would be surprised how many of them put the money saved on the club plan into a permanent savings account at once."

"The Christmas savings clubs are an incentive to regular saving," said L. O. Wissman, cashier of the First National bank. "They are a start for a great many people who never saved a cent before. We find that if the members keep paying in at regular intervals, they continue throughout the year, but if they neglect it for four or five weeks, they drop it. Most of them continue through the year, however."

"Yes, this bank started the Christ-

healthful. Mr. Bangs used the term in the sense that it denoted humaneness and wholeheartedness, with a sense of humor and ability to see the bright side when everything seemed dark.

Much of his lecture was devoted to a defense of literary men, whom, he said, had been attacked by "unnecessary literary muckrakers." He hotly defended Richard Harding Davis and Rudyard Kipling against attacks of American muckrakers.

Mr. Bangs told of his experiences in France and his descriptions of the wholesomeness of the Yanks abroad alternately kept his audience in breathless silence and gales of laughter.

Mr. Bangs showed a knowledge of human nature and a sympathy and understanding that was a revelation. His entire talk was punctuated with an infectious humor which kept his audience in the best of spirits.
